ORMSBY COUNTY POLITICS.

For the past three years the Republican party in Ormsby has been divided, local jealousies and a desire to lead were the principal causes of the trouble. Dissatisfied Republicans, with the aid the Democrats gave them, put up a ticket—the "Dolly Varden"—so-called, and elected it, thereby taking the control from the stalwart faction. At the last Republican primary the Dolly faction again won the day. The stalwarts, with one or two exceptions, took their medicine and went into the fight determined to again make Ormsby Republican. One or two hot-headed stalwarts, and a disappointed County Treasurer from the Dolly faction, have since that time been doing their best to keep raw a sore that ought to have been healed long ago. The editor of the Carson Index feels called upon to take up the fight for the soreheads, and from present appearances does not intend to live or let live. The Index recently asserted that the Ormsby County Central Committee was a mere tool of the local road, and had been recently used to hinder Judge Harris' aspirations for a government office.

The County Central Committee has unanimously denied that any such meeting has been held or any such intention harbored. The issue is plain. If the Index is such a stalwart as it claims, and believes in party harmony, it should hasten to do fellow Republicans justice or prove its charges. If to misrepresent any faction of the party and refuse a fair correction be stalwartism then we want none of it in Nevada.

ITS CHARACTER IN BRIEF.

A detailed description of the Atlanta, (Ga.) Cotton Exposition is unnecessary, since the Augusta, (Ga.) Chronicle and Constitutionalist sums its merits up in a few lines as follows: The International Cotton Exposition as a display of American achievements in the industrial arts, is without a parallel. Everything has been done on a scale of such magnitude that the observer is compelled to wonder that so great a work could have been accomplished in so short a period. There will be found cotton from every country where it grows; all machinery, ancient and modern, for its preparation and manufacture with new, showing improvements that experience has suggested, and explaining why the world can be clothed at less cost now than in former generations.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Budd Doble has had himself interviewed, and thinks that California is the coming horse region. Doble took care to wait until the bell had tapped to the best records in the world. He now predicts what has been established, and makes believe he did not hear the decision from the stand. He ought to be distanced for shouting.

Boy Harrison says he got off at Reno to keep from traveling on Sunday. Church people generally consider that Sunday begins at 12 o'clock Saturday night. Why didn't the Boy get off up at the Summit where Sunday commenced? Was it too cold, or was the congregation too small up there?

The balloon advertisement of the Reno Gazette is by long odds the most fancy thing of the kind that occurred in Nevada for years.—Tribune.

The State money is all right so far. Look over the count before the Board in this day's issue.—Carson Tribune. How about that $147,000 in California State bonds which you report?

Wouldn't it be a good idea for the Commissioners to bring those 1,300,000 complete pages "before the Judge and have them thrown out?"

The French Visitors in San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, November 29.

The party of distinguished French visitors, comprising a portion of those who participated in the Yorktown centennial celebration, have arrived in this city. Last evening, under the escort of Chief of Police Crowley, the visitors were shown through the Chinese quarters. They manifested great surprise and curiosity at the characteristics of these peculiar people. One of the party, who seemed to express the feelings and sentiments of all the visitors, said: "We have seen before, and what we hope never to see again." The visitors will remain in the city during the week.

The Belt Railroad Franchise.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 29. At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors last evening the question of granting a franchise to the Bay Shore railroad was indefinitely postponed by a vote of nine to two. The question of granting a franchise to the San Francisco and Ocean Shore railroad was postponed for two weeks.

THE ASSASSIN SWORN.

His Wonderful Memory—Reminiscences of the Guitau Family—Judge Cox Forgets to Thunder—Guitau on Mormonism.

WASHINGTON, November 29.

After recess yesterday witness J. W. Guitau was questioned at some length as to Guitau's family and instances of alleged insanity in his family. He did not know of the insanity of his aunt and two uncles except by report. On being asked by Scoville to explain what he meant by saying that his brother was morally responsible and that he was under the influence of the devil, witness explained a peculiar belief of his brother as to the counter influences of Christ and the devil, which were being exercised upon mankind, and that one or the other always gained the ascendancy. He agreed with his father, and believed at some time his brother had through his intense egotism and willfulness surrendered himself to the influence of the devil, and that being a free moral agent, he was morally responsible to God for his crime. That was his understanding of his responsibility in the case.

The prisoner here interrupted somewhat petulantly, "You've got that thing wrong side up my friend. It's very poor theology and a very poor position for you to take."

Witness—Perhaps I have, but I don't think so.

Mrs. Sarah W. Parker, of Chicago, widow of Guitau's cousin, testifies to the fact of her husband's insanity, and death in an insane asylum.

Quite a stir followed the sudden announcement by Scoville that the prisoner would now be sworn. Guitau took the stand, pale, but otherwise unmoved. He glanced behind him somewhat nervously, and requested the officers to stand close to him. Marshal Henry and his deputy and two policemen stood between Guitau and the crowd of men who filled the small standing room between Guitau and the door. Apparently reassured, Guitau took the oath, and, seating himself, said to Judge Cox: "I presume it is understood, Judge, that I do not appear as a regular witness, but simply to identify some letters."

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The crowd in and about the Court this morning was greater than ever. Immediately upon the opening of Court Guitau was called to the witness stand. He took his place, closely watched and guarded by the police and Court officers. He was asked by Scoville to give some incidents from his earliest recollections of his mother. Guitau replied, "Am I to be put on as a regular witness to-day, or only to identify some letters? I supposed the latter. I am not feeling at all well to-day, but shall be much better in a week or so."

Scoville—I had arranged to examine you to-day, and there are no other witnesses present.

Guitau—You should have had your witnesses on hand. I object to going on the stand when I am not feeling well to be subjected to cross examination by counsel for the prosecution. I have got a good deal to say. I want to go over the whole business carefully and scientifically, so to speak, and I want to be in good talking condition.

Scoville—I shall only ask you some simple questions.

Guitau—I am willing to answer provided the prosecution will not take advantage of my presence on the stand to force me to state my entire defense.

THE ASSASSIN WINS.

Scoville then explained that he had endeavored to arrange for the introduction of his evidence, according to his idea of propriety and logical fitness. He knew the prisoner was not feeling well to-day, and he had expected to ask the indulgence of Court and postpone his further examination. He did desire, however, to ask the prisoner a few questions to-day.

Guitau—I am perfectly willing to do that, but I do not want the prosecution to take advantage of my presence here to cross-examine me to-day.

Scoville—The Court will relieve you if you feel ill.

Guitau—With that understanding I will go on.

Col. O'Connell—We can't submit to any such arrangement as that.

We do not ask your consent I shall appeal to the Court. Judge Cox stated that if the witness went on the stand to testify he must submit to being cross-examined.

Guitau, (nodding his head approvingly): "That's the rule, Judge, as I understand it." After some further discussion, Guitau was removed from the stand and Scoville proceeded to read the letters.

HE WAS BADLY CRANKED.

They were all written by Guitau to his father and other members of his family, and covered a period of sixteen or twenty years.

As the reading of the letters progressed, Guitau occasionally commented upon them, or suggested the proper word when Scoville hesitated. While one from the Onida Community was being read Guitau said:

"Well, you can see I was badly cranked about that time."

GUITAU RESUMES.

At another time Scoville hesitated and said, "Here's another word I can't make out."

"Civilization is the word," prompted Guitau. "You can see how badly mixed I got in that miserable community; it makes me mad."

Scoville read from one of the letters, "I am in with Jesus Christ and company, and I am working for them."

"That was my sentiment," said Guitau, "and that has been my position ever since."

In another letter Guitau asked for $200.

Guitau—"Father didn't send the money, he always thought I was badly cranked."

Another letter was read, referring to a circular denouncing the Onida society. Guitau exclaimed, "Several New York dailies took up my circular and devoted editorial comments to it. That was a little bit of revenge I had for living in that miserable society. I was a virtuous man all the time I was there, though. I want that understood."

The reading of letters was finished at noon and Guitau resumed the witness stand.

Scoville began to question him in regard to his early life. Guitau responded promptly, intelligently and with perfect coolness for some minutes, apparently enjoying the situation and his freedom to talk. Alluding to his father's second marriage, he said, smilingly: "He went off one day without consulting me at all and got married. I thought that was a funny way of doing business and got very mad over it."

ASSASSINATION VS. MORMONISM.

Whenever allusion was made to the Onida Community Guitau became very much excited. He denounced the Community and his father's course in persuading him to go there.

"Why do you blame your father?" asked Scoville.

"Because, if he had been out of the way I never should have gone under the influence of that miserable fanaticism. There never was such a spiritual fanaticism in the world."

The amount of it all was, to speak plainly, "Noyes" sole idea was to get a chance to sleep with the young girls. Nobody else could touch. All the time I was there I was practically a shaker. I am glad that the miserable stinking society is broken up, and I hope that the United States Government will break up that miserable Mormon community in Utah.

FATHER WAS CRANKED TOO.

Guitau was asked if his father had any peculiar views on healing diseases. He replied, "Oh, yes. Father was awful crank on that subject."

Scoville—What do you mean by crank?

Guitau—Well, that's a short way of putting it when you want to say a man is pretty badly cranked.

Guitau said he was converted in 1859, when he came under the influence of Beecher and the Young Men's Christian Association. Beecher up to that time was supposed to be a virtuous man. Guitau told of his Onida, newspaper, and legal adventures. He was thirty days in the Tombs, in jail several times, but never was indicted before.

The City Council last night, by a vote of 22 to 13, voted to allow the Mutual Union Telegraph Co. to string its wires on poles through the streets, and to maintain them above ground as long as the present ordinances or ordinances yet to be passed shall permit. Under the existing law it would be two years before they would be compelled to bury them.

Officers of the Next House.

WASHINGTON, November 29.

The caucus choice for Clerk of the House will, it is conceded, lie between ex-Clerk Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Congressman, of South Carolina, with the chances largely in favor of the former. Among the candidates for Sergeant-at-Arms is James P. Davies, of New York. Davies waives all claim for recognition in the event of Hancock's selection as Speaker.

Collar and Elbow.

NEW YORK, November 29.

Morris Tracy of Boston, and Michael Donohue of Brooklyn, have signed articles to wrestle collar and elbow for the light-weight championship of America.

Retributive Justice.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., November 29.

James Holland was hanged by a mob near Russellville because of having murdered Burgess James in 1879, and having since escaped punishment.

Robinson. No combinations have been effected, and the condition of the vote is somewhat chaotic. Hancock and Kiefer are apparently leading, and the fight will be between them. Hancock is not gaining any, in fact he appears to be losing strength. If he wins it will be after a number of ballots are taken. The interests are beginning to arrive. They want to aid in the election of a protectionist Speaker, and they will probably wield considerable influence by manipulating the under current.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that Captain Sherwood, former Postmaster of the House, will be re-elected. Private Dalsell is his competitor.

Dawson, of California, seems to stand a first-rate chance for Sergeant-at-Arms, and Edward McPherson is in the lead for Chief Clerk.

A Republican caucus has been called for Saturday.

$500,000 Fire in Boston.

BOSTON, November 29.

A fire last night destroyed the extensive establishment of the American Rubber company, East Cambridge, together with valuable machinery and a large quantity of stock and manufactured garments. The total loss is $500,000. On stock $200,000, machinery $200,000 and buildings $100,500. Insurance $150,000. The company gave employment to 600 persons, three-fourths women. The corporation was chartered in 1873, under the name of the Eagle Rubber Co., and reorganized two years ago under the present title, with a capital of $500,000. The factory was doing a heavy business, working until 9 p. m. nightly.

Christianity vs. Christianity.

WASHINGTON, November 29.

In the Christianity divorce case Mary F. Lugenbeel, mother of Mrs. Christianity, testified that Christianity knocked his wife down in her presence, and was drunk nearly all the time with his sons during his visit to Lansing. They were fighting among themselves daily. Mrs. Christianity here interrupted and became involved in an angry controversy with Ingersoll, Christianity's counsel, during which she asserted that Ingersoll had also been drunk with her husband.

WASHINGTON, November 29.

Secretary Kirkwood had a conference to-day with the Secretary of War in regard to the conflict of the boundaries developed between the proposed military reservation in Utah and in Sections of land provisionally made by the Ute Commissioners for occupancy of the Uncompaghe Indians. The result of the conference was a temporary arrangement by which threatened difficulties with the Indians are averted. Agent Llewellyn, of Mesquero agency, New Mexico, states that the Indians are now quiet. The late trouble was caused by designing white men, who incited the Indians to make incursions into Mexico.

Land Decisions.

WASHINGTON, November 29.

The Commissioner of the General Land office has denied the application of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to be allowed to procure government surveys of land along its line in New Mexico and Arizona by means of depositing the estimated cost thereof, under the provisions of Sections 2401-3, of the Revised Statutes.

Commissioner McFarland holds that the privilege accorded by those sections is confined to settlers residing in townships to be surveyed, and that corporations are not settlers within the meaning of the statutes.

A statement was made by Windthorp, Ultra Montane Leader, pointing to a probable co-operation of the Centre with the Conservatives, which excited considerable interest.

A Horrible Murder in Douglas County.

CARSON CITY, November 29.

Information was received here last evening of a horrible murder two and a half miles from Douglas Springs, on the Bodie road, Douglas county. An old man named Dowd, sixty years of age, living by himself on a little ranch, was discovered Sunday by two Indians lying dead in his cabin with an ax near by covered with blood and other evidences of a desperate struggle. An examination showed Dowd to have received a blow from an ax on the left side of the face and a stab with a knife each side of his throat. The object of the murder is supposed to have been robbery, as the victim was a very prudent, saving man. The murder is believed to have been committed about two weeks ago, as Dowd had not been seen for that length of time.

Blood in Bidwell.

On Wednesday, November 23d, Wm. C. Gaby of Bidwell, Modoc county, and a man named King of the same place had a difficulty over a game of cards. The quarrel soon waxed warm and came to blows, when shooting irons were produced and used. Gaby was shot once in the neck and twice in the left side just below the ribs. He may recover, but his wounds are pronounced very dangerous by the physician in attendance.

GAZETTE readers will remember that Gaby headed the crowd who took a horse thief from Deputy Sheriff Chamberlain at Bidwell last Spring because the officer was not provided with a requisition.

"One Millet Me Dead."

The Chinamen of J. P. Martin's wood camp, near Tahoe, having finished their job on Tuesday last, the 23d instant, several of them started to walk to Carson. The snow did not make a business of coming down until 9 o'clock in the morning, and they were well out before the storm was really upon them. Ah Sing, the blacksmith, started for Truckee alone; by the time he had reached the summit it was almost dark and the snow four feet deep, so he had to build a fire and stay all night. Wednesday he made his way back to the lake, the nearest dead of any live being recently heard of. When the door of the house to which he went for shelter, was opened, he said, "In one millet me dead," but food, fire and a few hours rest did wonders. He started for camp, limping with his blistered feet, thinking that he had had a hard road to travel. The rest have not been heard from.

Freight Notes.

Earl's depot is surrounded nearly every day with large teams loading for the various regions north of Reno. Large shipments of flour and barley for the Reno market have been made from Surprise valley and the Honey Lake region.

The Carson and Colorado railroad is doing a large freight business to supply the growing southern country.

Considerable activity is now reported on the V. & T. R. R. The Ophir, Savage and other mines are shipping low-grade ore, and the hill again shows considerable activity along the line of the road.

On the Central Pacific freight is very heavy. Two special trains are required each day besides the regular freight. The business boom seems to have reached this coast.

Loyalists Literati.

The Loyalist Literary and Musical Club is the name of a society which exists in the thriving little town of Loyalton. Its membership is composed principally of young folks, and its object is to furnish amusement during the long winter evenings. Last season the club was very popular, and the entertainments given drew out large audiences. During the summer it has been allowed to die out, but a meeting is to be held next Wednesday evening for the purpose of reorganizing. It is the intention to give a dramatic entertainment during the coming holidays.

Road Agents in Limbo.

Hank Rodgers and Jesse Pierce, two knights of the road who are accused of being concerned in the robbery of the Columbus and Candelaria stage at Soda Springs, are now undergoing examination at Candelaria. The two women on the stage at the time of the robbery are in attendance at the examination. The prisoners will be held to await the action of the Grand Jury. The officers are still looking for the track of the third man.

The Coming Amateur Performance.

The play of "Twixt Loves" is an original conception from the pen of Doctor G. Haas, and has been revised by the joint labors of the author and George Conking. It will be produced under their immediate supervision in Reno on Friday evening, December 23, by "Our Amateur Company."

The Verdi Fire.

The Verdi fire destroyed about 300 feet of frame and 500 cords of wood belonging to Katz & Henry. The Truckee fire company got the blaze under control at 6 A. M. yesterday. The origin of the fire was incendiary.

The Suro tunnel and the Forman shaft will be connected within a few weeks, but 1,300 feet remain between them, which will soon be run through by the drift each way. When the connection is made the water will be run through the tunnel, saving the expense now incurred of hoisting it 1,495 feet above the tunnel level.

A Zulu Red Carrier.

The Zulu chief of a traveling museum which showed in Rochester was six and a half feet tall, and, of course, was advertised as seven. He wore scarcely any clothes, spoke at the lecturer said was Zulu language, and was terrific in a war dance. But the manager failed to pay him the stipulated $12 a week, whereupon he complained to a Justice in good English, and said he was Francis West, a Carson hod carrier.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the public is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other bitters, as it is not a whiskey or a drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Woman's Rights.
The most alarming feature of the woman's rights movement is the determination of the so-called reformers to make proposals of marriage. In the case of a young man who is earning but $5 a week a proposal of marriage would be an outrage, not only on the young man, but on posterity; yet a desperate woman might go to great lengths to secure even a five-dollar man. It is about all mothers can do now to save their sons from the numerous young women who beset these inexperienced boys, and if the youngsters are to be placed entirely at the mercy of matrimonial females, it won't be long till the Republic is undermined.

Railroad Building in Texas.
Commenting on careful and extensive estimates of railroad building for the next fifteen months, made by the Investor's Supplement for October the Galveston News calculates that during the next fifteen months, ending December 31st, 1883, there will be built in Texas 2,785 miles of railroad, costing $27,850,000, not including equipment. The News estimates the cost at the low figure of $10,000 per mile. During the twelve months, ending September 1, 1883, it estimates the new railroad to be laid down at 2,325 miles against 1,634 for the preceding twelve months ended September 1, 1881.

Vanity Fair pronounces "The Medical College of the University of California" in itself little better than a farce. And it adds:
The education given at the Medical College of the University of California cannot become second to none, nor even third, nor fourth, nor tenth, under its present auspices. The faculty, with a very few exceptions, is composed of men who know less than the last year students of good Eastern and European colleges.

THE SUN.
1882. NEW YORK. 1882.

THE SUN for 1883 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, devout and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for mankind and woman-kind of every sort; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours not discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The Sun of 1883 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superfluous words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way, all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and connecting upon a single thread the fragments of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of The Sun. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important newspaper established in this country in the dozen years past has been modeled after The Sun. Every important journal already existing has been modified and bettered by the force of The Sun's example.

The Sun of 1883 will be the same outspoken, truth-telling and interesting newspaper. By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall retain all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square is not a consideration with The Sun. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or Bohemia.

We have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of The Sun's political course.

The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best material of the seven daily issues. An Agricultural Department of unequalled merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and domestic intelligence complete the Weekly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read like The Sun? Each number of which is a goldmine of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, prose every line worth reading, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good-sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little? If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for The Sun.

Our terms are as follows:

For the daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6 50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an extra-half-cent sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7 70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1 90 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.
